

BOOM PAUL CALLED FOR A SHOWDOWN

"Rush Telegram" is Sent From Pretoria

DEMAND IS MADE FOR AN IMMEDIATE REPLY.

Coyningham Greene Is Asked For An

Explicit Assurance That the British Troops Will Be Withdrawn From the Transvaal Borders Within Forty-Eight Hours, and That the Reinforcements Landed Since the Conference Be Returned at Once.

London, Oct. 10.—[Special].—A Dalziel's cablegram from Pretoria, marked "urgent," says that the Transvaal has handed a note to Coyningham Greene, the British diplomatic agent, demanding explicit assurance that the British troops will be withdrawn from the Transvaal border within forty-eight hours; also that the reinforcements landed in South Africa since the Bloemfontein conference, be returned.

London, Oct. 10.—[Special].—The text of the Boer's note under date of yesterday, and comprising their ultimatum, was received this afternoon from Sir Alfred Milner, high commissioner at Cape Town. The Transvaal complains that while the negotiations were proceeding between the two countries, Great Britain was massing troops on the Transvaal border, which was regarded as a threat against its independence.

This massing of troops necessitated the assembling of the Burghers for the defense of their country. The note then calls upon England to agree to arbitration or conference concerning all points in dispute.

It demands that British troops on the Transvaal borders be instantly withdrawn, and one-third of all the British reinforcements sent to South Africa since June 1, also be withdrawn.

If the demand is complied with the Transvaal also agrees to withdraw troops.

An immediate and affirmative answer demanded of Great Britain by five o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

"Else Transvaal be compelled to regard," says the note, "the action of the Boer's government as a formal declaration of war and will not be responsible for the consequences."

The ultimatum is signed by Reitz, secretary of state of the Transvaal. The ultimatum will probably not be answered, thus letting the Boers begin hostilities.

Meanwhile war preparations are to be pushed.

News Is Confirmed.

London, Oct. 10.—[Special].—A Reuters telegram from Cape Town confirms the Dalziel dispatch from Pretoria to the effect that the Boer ultimatum had been delivered to Coyningham Greene, mandating the withdrawal of all the British troops from the Boer frontier.

It is reported that the ultimatum had been received at the foreign office here.

London, Oct. 10.—The first shot in the Transvaal war is still un-fired, yet the hope is entertained here that the use of the combatants will continue much longer, despite Sir Alfred Milner's letter to President Steyn, saying that the threatened act of aggression at having been committed, he would not yet despair of securing peace. According to the latest news the thousands of Boers who are lagged at the front, in the neighborhood of Mafeking, are in a festive mood, and anxious to use their rifles. Some are disgusted with the policy of delay at they have returned to their farms.

It is said, too, that the commissary department of the Boers has already been opened.

For these reasons alone it is improbable that the present calm will last much longer, but furthermore, it seems clear that the outlanders and their sympathizers at the Cape will not be satisfied unless war is declared on.

Whatever the government and the people here may assert, the only settlement of the outlanders from the beginning have desired is one which probably will wipe the Transvaal off the map of independent states.

Now that 15,000 out of the 62,000 men of the reserves have been actually summoned to join the colors, it is surprising to be asked here why Gen. Sir Buller should have under his command twice as many British soldiers as the duke of Wellington ever collected on the field of battle. Government officials argue that a lavishly display of force is economical and sane, but it is understood, also, that a display is meant to impress Russia and Germany with Great Britain's

YACHT RACE IS OFF; WEATHER NOT RIGHT

The Light Wind and Dense Fog Led the Managers to Decide to Postpone the Event Set For This Morning—The Course Could Not Be Covered.

The Highlands, N. Y., Oct. 10.—[Special].—There was no yacht race today. The contest has been postponed because of unfavorable weather conditions. This decision had been expected all day. A thick fog hung over the shore and the ocean and the wind blew less than three miles per hour. The sun was almost entirely obscured, and everything pointed to not only no race, but to no start. At ten o'clock neither yacht had left for the starting place, and shortly afterwards it was announced that no attempt would be made.

The next attempt to sail the first race will be made on Thursday, after which day there will be races each day until the series is completed.

Expect Another Fluke.

New York, Oct. 10.—Betting is even that the fourth attempt to sail the first race for the international yacht trophy will end in a fluke. By far more wagers are being made on the chances for a finish race than on the prowess of the Yankee Columbia or the Irish Shamrock. There is no great amount of confidence in the Columbia now. Rather its friends are nervous. Its showing Saturday was not in its favor.

MALABON IS TAKEN WITHOUT A FIGHT

General Schwan's Force Meets No Resistance.

THE EXPECTED BATTLE THEREFORE, DID NOT OCCUR.

Scouting Parties Under Major Bell Disperse the Enemy and Take Prisoners—Filipinos Are Now Operating in Small Bands—Attack Made on the Outposts at Calocan and Other Places—Robbers May Try to Capture American Hospitals.

Manila, Oct. 10.—[Special].—General Schwan's forces entered San Francisco de Malabon this morning without encountering resistance. The Filipinos did not make the desperate stand that was confidently expected.

Manila, Oct. 10.—[Special].—One hundred and twenty men under Major Bell made a scouting expedition yesterday. They encountered three small bodies of rebels, which they promptly dispersed. Two Filipino lieutenants and private were captured. The insurgents on the north are now operating in small bands. They opened fire simultaneously on the outposts at Calocan, Depostio and Marquina last night, and it is rumored that they intend an attack on the American hospitals.

The American troops under Gen. Schwan were camped last night within sight of San Francisco de Malabon, where 5,000 insurgents are said to be concentrated. A big battle is expected today.

Manila, Oct. 10.—An insurgent band attacked the American line on the outskirts of Manila between blockhouse No. 5 and La Mona church Monday afternoon. The American forces, consisting of the Twenty-fifth, infantry (colored) and Battery E of the Fourth artillery, repulsed the attack. Three Americans were wounded.

The Thirteenth regiment, part of Gen. Schwan's column, which is operating in the country south and southwest of Bacoor, is now camping at Santa Cruz de Cavite, near the shore of Manila bay.

There is frequent skirmishing between the Filipinos and the American outposts. The number of the enemy is estimated at 2,000. An advance will be made on San Francisco de Malabon. The American baggage train has reached Rosario, which was occupied by Gen. Schwan's troops Monday.

A Spanish prisoner who escaped to the American lines says that the rebels have some artillery. They are short of ammunition, however, and it was this fact that caused them to evacuate Cavite Viejo and Noveleta when Gen. Schwan's command approached those towns.

The brigade of marines who took part in Sunday's land operations contained many of the men, who so distinguished themselves at Caimanera, near Guantanamo, where they fought the first American battle on Cuban soil and gallantly held their position for many days against a superior force of Spaniards.

They did the hardest fighting of the day. They marched along the causeway on the Cavite peninsula. When they reached a point near La Caridad, the key of the peninsula, the gunboats Wheeling, Petrel and Callao opened fire on the insurgents. Under this protection the marines advanced a mile to Cella.

Here they turned into a narrow road lined with thickets. They were fired upon by a force of rebels who were concealed in the dense brush, but they did not waver for a single moment. They responded to the fire of the enemy, and after a short fight they chased the Filipinos to a large ford in the river a mile from Noveleta.

At this point they encountered a heavy redoubt. Companies B, C and D obliterated to the right, and, moving through the rice fields, advanced by rushes.

The second battalion deployed to the left and attempted a flank movement, which failed on account of the location of the redoubt, the only approach to which on that side was by a single bridge, which spanned an unfordable river with steep banks.

The fighting at the redoubt was fierce and close. The marines were exposed to the fire of the enemy, and after the engagement it was learned that they had lost three killed and thirteen wounded. A surgeon, who was attending a wounded man on the field, was hit by a rebel bullet.

A few of the men of company D, Capt. Thorpe, and company C, Capt. Porter, succeeded in getting across the river. They clambered up the bank and charged the redoubt, putting the enemy to flight.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Orders were telegraphed Monday to the Newark, now at Mare Island, to join Admiral Watson's fleet for blockade service. Orders were also sent to the Brooklyn, the Nashville, the Badger and the New Orleans to expedite their preparations.

Badger Telephone Company Stretch
Wires and All That Remains is to Establish an Office—Difference of Opinion as to Location—Personal Notes.

Clinton, Oct. 10.—The new grain elevator put up by the Milwaukee Elevator Company is now nearly completed and has been painted. The gas engine, with which the machinery will be operated, has arrived and will be placed in position this week. The elevator will be an up-to-date building in every respect. Among the conveniences used, and one which will be of great benefit to the farmers is a wagon platform dump by which a box of loose grain can be unloaded in a few seconds and without effort. Bags of grain are also emptied without lifting, by means of this contrivance. Farmers will appreciate this method of unloading grain. The Badger Telephone Company have stretched wires on their poles, leading into this village and all that now remains to be done is to establish an office and make connections. A difference of opinion seems to exist as to whether the office shall be located in O. L. Woodward's drug store or C. L. Tuttle's livery barn, both of which places are good locations, and would furnish an all night service. Mrs. E. L. Stone and son Edward, expect to move to Chicago this week, and occupy a house which Mrs. Stone owns there. They have been residents of College street, Beloit, for about fifteen years, and previous to that, lived for a short time in this village, where the late E. L. Stone died. CAINVILLE GIRL BADLY INJURED

Careless Bicycle Rider Causes Fracture of Nellie Gardner's Collar Bone

Cainville, Oct. 10.—Little Nellie Gardner had her collar bone fractured last Thursday by being run over by a careless bicycle rider. About forty of Lottie McCoy's little friends gave her a surprise Saturday afternoon, when they gathered at her home to help celebrate her eighth birthday. A good time was had by the little folks, but the pleasures of the afternoon were marred. Letitia Acheson fell from a pony and broke her arm. Mr. and Mrs. Torpy of Center, attended Sunday evening services at Magnolia. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart of Fulton, were visitors in town Sunday. Mrs. Chas. Bennett spent Sunday in Beloit. Mrs. Cal Broughton and Mrs. Fred Gillman were Cainville visitors, Thursday. Mrs. Gillman attended the Ladies' Aid society meeting at Mrs. Chase's. Gollmar Bros' circus passed through the village last Thursday, on its way to Baraboo, for winter quarters. Charles McCarthy shipped a load of cattle to Chicago last week, and spent a few days there visiting friends. Mrs. D. L. Kane celebrated her seventy-sixth birthday, with a few lady friends at tea. Mrs. F. Tamplen was quite ill last week, and her sister came from Janesville to care for her. The neighbors deeply sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Swartz in the death of their infant daughter, aged five months. The affliction seems the more severe, coming just as the family are about to depart for their new home in Dakota.

PERFORMANCE WAS ONLY FAIR

"McCarthy's Mishaps"—Presented to a Small Audience Last Night

Barney Furguson and his company appeared before a small sized audience at Myers Grand last evening in "McCarthy's Mishaps" and the performance was in the main quite fair. It consisted of the same old rough and tumble knockabout work which has been the principal feature of the play for years, and at times was very laughable. There is nothing particularly refined or elevating about it however, and many of the patrons of the Grand understood after the performance why Mr. Myers had endeavored to cancel the engagement. Dick Furguson, did a very clever turn and his clog dancing was one of the best exhibitions ever seen here. Marguerite Furguson, a daughter of Barney Furguson, was also very good in the same line and her work was well received. The act of Barney himself proved to be the same old barnacled chestnut and is too familiar to need further comment. Robert Jackson, in his jumping exhibition, was easily the most redeeming feature of the show and he should be in the company of better actors. The balance of the cast are hardly worthy of mention.

NEW CHIEF OF THE CREEKS.General Porter a Fine Type of the Indian States-

BY G. J. BOWDEN.

General Pleasanton Porter, who has recently been elected chief of the Creek nation, is a man whom any state in the union might be proud to elect as governor. He is not only an educated and intelligent man, but he has all the qualities of a true statesman. His election as chief executive of the Creeks is a credit to that nation.

Ex-Lieutenant Governor Brokmeyer of Missouri, who has known General Porter for more than 20 years, gives him this high praise:

"General Pleasanton Porter is a more capable man than any man in public life in Missouri or the southwest. He is a better statesman, better diplomatist and will lead the Creek nation forward in its march of civilization more rapidly than it has ever progressed before."

The election of General Porter shows how the sentiment of the Creek people has changed in the past four years. At that time General Porter was a candidate for chief of the nation, but the progressive element was so much in the minority that he received only a few hundred votes, while his opponent, Chief Ispahach, who was opposed to any change in the tribal relations, was elected by a large majority.

The platform on which General Porter was defeated, before was practically the same as the one on which he has been elected. He has always been a prominent representative of the Creek people at Washington and is personally acquainted with a large number of congressmen and senators, besides being well versed in the affairs of his nation.

He has constantly advised the Creeks to do voluntarily that which he saw the government at Washington would compel them to do, but they have heretofore refused to take his advice, and have, through the advice of designing people, relied on their supposed rights under treaties with the government to continue their tribal relations. In national politics General Porter is a Democrat, and this fact was used against him by one of his opponents, who is a Republican and an ex-federal soldier.

It is predicted that under Porter's leadership, the Creek nation will take first place among the five civilized tribes and that Muscogee, its principal town, will soon be a city of 10,000.

Chief Porter gets his title "General" from having been war chief of his nation. He is a half breed. He is 49 years old. He received his schooling in the public educational institutions of the Creek nation, and learned statesmanship at Washington. He has been married twice. Both wives had mixed blood. They are dead. The general has two daughters and one son. He is now in the prime of his life, as hale and strong as when he hunted on the prairies of the Creek country in his youthful days. He is above six feet in height and weighs close to 200 pounds. The general's daughters are beautiful young women, refined and talented.

The general comes from a fighting family. His grandfather was a captain in the United States army, stationed at Fort Smith, Ark., who resigned and joined the Creeks because another captain was promoted ahead of him, unjustly, through political influence.

The captain married an Indian and held high positions in the nation. The general's father was a member of the legislative body of the nation. The general was born on the homestead near Bufala, where he still lives.

When the war was over Porter returned to the farm near Bufala and went back to plowing. He was elected to represent his district in the Creek legislative body, which corresponds to our lower house of congress. He became a leader in the Nation the time he first appeared in the council chamber. He espoused the cause of the more progressive element of the nation and soon became the acknowledged leader of that party.

General Porter served his time as war chief and was then sent to Washington as a representative of the Creeks. He remained there a number of years looking after the interests of his nation and attending to the claims of individuals. He is as well posted as any man in the country on the federal laws for the Indian territory. He acquired great wealth from his farm and cattle industry and through his work as the legal representative of individual Creeks before the national government.

Prosperity is Here

Anyone who doubts it can be convinced by visiting any of the towns in western Iowa or Minnesota on the new lines of the Chicago & North-Western Railway.

People in the immediate vicinity of these towns are quick to see the advantage and are already in advance of the railroad, building stores, residences, elevators, lumber offices, etc., etc., but there is room for more. The country is splendid, and will in all cases amply support all lines of business and trade, and in the most of the towns the best locations are still open.

Lots in any of these towns cannot help but be safe and paying investments, as they are still on the market at this original low prices.

Wilson Not Seriously Ill.
Lexington, Va., Oct. 10.—The reported illness of William L. Wilson is much exaggerated. It is true that for some months Mr. Wilson has been under treatment for threatened lung trouble and may spend a part of the winter in the south, but he is now attending to his duties as president of Washington and Lee university as actively as ever.

Socialist Conference Opens.
Hanover, Oct. 10.—The tenth annual socialist conference since the repeal of the socialist laws opened Monday in the Ballhof. Chicago, Oct. 10.—Terry McGovern stopped Billy Rotchford at Tattersall's last night after two minutes and fifteen seconds of fighting in the first round. Gropping helplessly on the mat from his fifth knockdown, Rotchford was thoroughly beaten even in the short interval of fighting, and his seconds mercifully threw up the sponge.

Certain of France's Friendship.

Rome, Oct. 10.—Pope Leo is said to feel no concern at the report that the French embassy at the Vatican will be suppressed. His holiness is assured that the Waldeck-Rousseau ministry will strongly oppose such action, inasmuch as the Vatican's diplomatic relations with the republic are based on a concordat extremely advantageous to France.

Flood Fatalities in Italy.

London, Oct. 10.—Forty persons were reported drowned by floods, following severe rains, in the province of Salerno, Italy. A number of small villages and factories have been destroyed. Property valued at very high figures in the aggregate has been ruined. Troops have been sent to the relief of the inhabitants.

May End Insurance Company.

Waterloo, Iowa, Oct. 10.—Suit was begun Monday against the Equitable Mutual Life association of Waterloo, an insurance company doing business under the laws of about a dozen states, asking that a receiver be appointed. The proceedings were brought by the insurance department of the state. An injunction was issued restraining the company from doing business while the hearing is pending. Attorney-General Remley's petition charges mismanagement, extravagance and deception on the part of the officers and the issuance of a policy that binds the holder to obligations contrary to law. The membership of the company numbers nearly 2,000,000.

DEWEY'S BUGLER.

He Gave the Signal For Beginning the Battle of Manila Bay.

One of the minor heroes on the Olympia is Charles Mitchell, bugler of Dewey's flagship. It was Mitchell who sounded the "commence firing" signal in Manila bay. He was one of the chief actors in that little drama of May 1.

When Admiral Dewey, turning to Captain Gridley, spoke those historic words, "You may fire when ready, Gridley," the Olympia's captain simply turned and nodded.

Mitchell was standing ready with his bugle, and every man jack in the fleet was at his post. The gun captains held the lanyards, the crew were all in their places and the ammunition passers were waiting with fresh charges.

Mitchell raised the shiny brass bugle to his lips and began blowing the signal. But only the first notes were heard by any one. The rest were lost in the roar of one of the Olympia's 5 inch guns which sent a shell whizzing toward the Spanish fleet. There was no need for bugle blowing on the Olympia for some hours afterward.

Mitchell is still a member of the Olympia's crew and has probably told the story of the musical accompaniment to the battle of Manila hundreds of times since his return. He still exhibits the bugle, slightly battered and worn, but very dear to him. He has been 14 years in the service, ten of which was spent in the Fifth artillery and four in the naval service. He is from Niles, Mich.

JOKAI'S BRIDE.

Pretty Young Actress Who Has Married The Veteran Author.

Here is a picture of the pretty eighteen-year-old bride of Dr. Maurus Jokai, the celebrated Hungarian novelist, who is silver-haired and 75. His first wife died many years ago. He had been a widower for more than a decade when he was asked when he would marry again. "When I find my pretty Michael," he replied.

"Pretty Michael" is not the greatest of Dr. Jokai's novels, but it is the most captivating. "Pretty Michael" is the heroine. She has been the author's ideal woman ever since he created and built about her a romance of love and adventure. Ever since that creation he has been looking for a real "Pretty Michael," and he never found her until he saw Arabella Grossnagel at the Royal National theater.

Dr. Jokai is the literary idol of Hungary. Arabella Grossnagel is its favorite young comedienne. Romantic Hungary is rejoicing at the union of these, its idols. Hungary cares nothing about the wedding of May by December. It sees only that two artist souls have been united, and it is glad.

He saw her first at the Royal National theater in Budapest, where she made her debut as a pupil from the National Theater school. He recognized in her his ideal. He was presented at the end of the act. This was a year ago. They were married only a few weeks ago.

to sail for Manila. The activity of the rebels reported within the last two days is the motive for the orders. It is proposed to execute Admiral Dewey's suggestions for a tight blockade of the Philippine ports at the earliest possible moment.

Otis Removes the Censorship.
Washington, Oct. 10.—Gen. Otis in a report to the war department states that he has removed the censorship over the press and that he is permitting newspaper dispatches to be forwarded without revision. This policy, it appears, has been in effect since the 9th of September, although the correspondents at Manila were kept in ignorance and may not learn of it until advised from their home offices.

This Is the Field of a Naturalist's Work.

Theodore Holm, a Dane, for many years botanist in the National Museum at Washington, concerns himself only with things above the clouds. He makes it his business to probe into the mysteries of nature in the remote heights of the earth. How plants and lichens grow in rigorous climates, on the windy rocks of the snow-capped mountains and in the arctic circle is the special object of his research, and the comparison between plants at the poles and those on the tops of peaks is his special delight. His search for information has carried him into all parts of the world. Three times he has gone into the arctic circle, many times to Greenland and Iceland, and times without number to the North cape and the Lofoten islands. He has climbed the Norwegian mountains and has strange things to tell about the plants that grow on our own Pike's peak. "I have for a long time been studying the subject of arctic flora," said Mr. Holm at the Grand Central hotel, "and during my studies have been in a great many parts of the globe. On several occasions I have been a member of polar expeditions. In 1882-3 I was with the Danish ship Dymphna, which took part in the international polar expedition, in which you will remember Gen. Greeley took part. Andre Hangaad was our captain, and for two years we drifted about the polar seas, caught in the ice floes. The Dutch ship Varna, which we met, kept us company, sank at the end of the second year, but we saved the crew. I began then, as the agent of the Danish government, to pursue the studies of circumpolar botany, and since then I have followed the work in Greenland, Iceland, America—in fact, all over the world. What has most interested me has been the comparison of plants found in the polar regions with those found on the mountain-tops. My work lies wholly above the timber line, and you will be surprised to see how many plants are to be found there. There are at least twenty species of flowering herbs on the rocky and snow-covered peaks, some of wonderful beauty and color. None of them grow higher than an inch and most are only half an inch high, but they are perfect in their minuteness and of the most vivid hues. There is the Arctic pink and the Arctic daisy, both of exquisite shade and form. The Arctic poppy is another flower worth hunting for on the treeless slopes, and so is the Arctic willow. The little lycopod is a series of plant that is found in both high and low places. It is said by most botanists not to grow higher than 8,000 feet. I have found it on the top of Pike's peak, 14,000 feet. There it is half an inch high. In Florida it grows eight inches tall. There is a miniature clover also to be found above the timber line, and a flower resembling the forget-me-not, so you see that the rocks which you are used to considering barren are by no means so to one who has the eyes to look for the beauties that are there."—Denver Republican.

Quick Work of Bridge Builders.
During transshipment of the parts of Alhara bridge on its way to Egypt, a portion of one span was left. A cablegram announcing the fact was received at the works of the builders, the Pencoyd Iron Works, Philadelphia, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of one day. Two hours later the material was "laid out" and by 9 o'clock the next morning the duplicate parts were steaming away from Pencoyd on a railway train, finished and painted.

TWO SECRET ORDERS MEET HERE TODAY

ODD FELLOWS AND ORDER OF THE EASTERN STAR.

Former Gathers At the Annual Encampment, and the Attendance is Large—While the Latter Hold Their District Convention At Masonic Hall.

Janesville was the Mecca today for many visitors from all portions of the state of Wisconsin, to attend the meeting of two secret orders.

One hundred delegates are here to attend the annual encampment of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which session will continue for two days, commencing with this morning. At Masonic hall, corner of Main and Milwaukee streets, is now being held the annual district convention of the Order of the Eastern Star.

When the morning train from Evansville pulled out into the city, fifty Odd Fellows alighted and were received by the general reception committee, composed of Charles Schwartz, James A. Fathers and L. M. Nelson.

The visitors were then escorted to their respective hotels. From Whitewater and Beloit large delegations arrived, and on all incoming northern trains delegations have been arriving.

The cities represented are: Milwaukee, Madison, Eau Claire, La Crosse, Hudson, Oshkosh, Beloit, Watertown, Whitewater, Green Bay, Marinette, Baraboo and Evansville.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the business session opened at West Side Odd Fellows' hall, where the reports from the different committees were received and passed on.

The hall had been appropriately decorated for the occasion which work was in the hands of an able committee in charge of Mrs. John Evans.

Among the Grand Lodge officers present are Grand Matron Elizabeth Little, Portage; Assistant Grand Matron Helen Budd, Lancaster and Grand Ada Jessie Niles, Brodhead.

At 6 o'clock this evening at Masonic hall a banquet will be in order the committee in charge, being Mrs. F. H. Baack, Mrs. W. H. Merritt, Mrs. C. A. Sanborn and Mrs. E. T. Tish.

The banquet will be followed by an exemplification of the work of the order.

BENEFIT DANCE A SUCCESS

Given at the Armory Last Evening, for F. C. Sherwood.

Something more substantial than sympathy was the result of the benefit ball given at the Armory last evening for F. C. Sherwood. The affair was under the auspices of Florence Camp No. 366, Modern Woodmen of America, of which Mr. Sherwood is fortunate enough to be a member. Upwards of two hundred tickets were sold. The Trades Council very generously donated the use of the hall, and other kindnesses being shown, the affair was a marked success, and brought a neat little sum for a needy person. The inspiration was furnished by Luckwood's orchestra of five pieces.

The affair was a great social success and until 2 o'clock this morning those present made merry and enjoyed every minute to the fullest extent. Refreshments were served in the gallery by the members of Crystal Camp No. 182, Royal Neighbors of America.

The committee on arrangements consisted of A. J. Dayton, Oscar Mabie, Dr. M. A. Cunningham, Charles Cator and C. W. Brooks.

The floor committee was composed of the following gentlemen: W. H. Corneau, Charles Cator, Oscar Mabie, Geo. Slater and Andrew Gibson.

LOCAL YOUTHS GO TO PHILIPPINES

HAVE ENLISTED FOR ACTIVE SERVICE.

Frederick Duller and Arthur Metzinger Will Sail Soon For Manila—Seven Well Known Evansville Boys Left Last Evening For Fort Snelling—Friends at Depot.

Frederick Duller and Arthur Metzinger of this city, are now members of the Forty Fifth United States Volunteers, and leave tomorrow for Fort Snelling, Minn., where they will join their regiment, which sails soon for Manila.

Seven other Rock county boys will also soon be fighting the Filipinos, and when the vestibule left Janesville last evening for Minneapolis, the following young men from Evansville stepped aboard, bound for Fort Snelling: George J. Blunt, E. Crawford, R. W. Lang, George E. Sewell, George Hammond, Roy O. Clark and Frank Raymond.

J. Molash, who makes his home in South Dakota, was among the members. The enlistment of these young men for service in the Philippines is the result of most active work on the part of Harry B. Smith of Milwaukee, who is recruiting agent for the government.

Frederick Duller is but nineteen years of age, and is the son of Mrs. Sarah White.

Arthur Metzinger is eighteen years of age, and for many years made the Bower City his home. From this city his parents moved to Rochester, N. Y. He is a nephew of F. M. Marzuff.

As soon as Duller and Metzinger received their papers yesterday, they provided themselves with the regulation army felt hat and blue uniform, not being willing to wait till they reached Fort Snelling, when the same would be furnished. Both men are enthusiastic over the task before them and say that they will make the best of their time.

The Rock county boys from Evansville, who enlisted are all well known and are members of families in good standing. It is said that several of them enlisted in spite of the fact that their parents tried hard to persuade them to remain at home.

After being provided with full uniform and fighting equipment at Fort Snelling, the Rock county delegation will leave the latter part of this month for San Francisco as members of the Forty-Fifth Volunteers.

On their arrival on the Pacific coast they will at once board an awaiting transport boat which will sail for Manila.

Milton Junction Couple Made One By Rev. Walter A. Hall.

Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock Mortimer C. Ogden, Milwaukee, and Miss Bessie D. Pellett, drove to this city from the Junction. They made the journey in a two seated carriage and were accompanied by Ralph W. Adair and Miss Edith May Thorpe, both residents of Milton Junction.

On reaching the city the party drove to the South Bluff street home of Rev. Walter Hall, pastor of the Court Street M. E. church, where Mr. Ogden and Miss Pellett were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony, their accompanying friends acting as witnesses to the ceremony.

Let the Hoboes Out.

A freight train pulled into a station on the Boston and Maine recently, and a ventriloquist on the platform thought he would have some sport, so he threw his voice under the car, saying: "Let me out; let me out." The station agent was called, and he hastened to unfasten the door of a car. After working for a time, he got the door open and out walked four tramps, all of whom disclaimed having asked to be let out. The ventriloquist had builded better than he knew, and had stepped upon the side of the four hoboes, who were left behind.

It is a novel play with odd characters and thoroughly enjoyable to all classes of people.

NEWS OF A PERSONAL NATURE

FRANK SANNER is home after a visit in Berlin.

FRANK D. KIMBALL and son Frank are in Chicago.

DAN F. SULLIVAN was here from Rockford yesterday.

MISS Mabel Jackman returned today after an extended visit in Buffalo.

MAYOR John Young, of Brodhead, is here attending the Odd Fellows' convention.

JUDGE Samuel Ryan and wife of Appleton, are in the city. Mr. Ryan is editor of the Appleton Crescent.

Triple Twins.

Springfield (Ill.) Special to the Chicago Chronicle: The old saying that unusual occurrences come in groups of three was strikingly illustrated in Sangamon county recently. The wife of William Barry of this city gave birth to twin boys. Mr. Barry remained at his home long enough to get a glimpse of his two sons, and then drove to his farm, a short distance north of this city. He went to his stables and found that a reliable family mare had that morning foaled two healthy colts, both of which are males. From the stable he repaired to the barn lot and there he was confronted by a milch cow with two newborn bull calves at her side. The babies, the colts and the calves are all lusty young fellows and promise to live and thrive.

Cigarettes.

Taking the population of Great Britain and Ireland at 38,000,000, a trade journal assumes that 30 per cent, are cigarette smokers, and that they consume on an average five a day all the year round. This would give a total of nearly 7,000,000,000. The tobacco contained in this number of cigarettes would weigh over 9,000 tons, and if it were stored in carts, each carrying a ton, and the carts marshaled in a line with twenty feet for each horse and vehicle, a procession would be formed over thirty-five miles long, the total length of 7,000,000,000 of them would be upward of 331,000 miles, or more than enough to circle the globe nearly fourteen times. It would make a line from here to the moon, and nearly half the way back again.

THE HOUSEHOLD

DOOR DECORATION.

Wrought Iron Work Becoming Very Popular For This Purpose.

Special interest usually attaches to the entrance of a house, and the popular demand for all kinds of decorative wrought iron shows to what an extent this interest has grown in America, according to a writer in The Ladies' World, who discourses on artistic door trimming of this description as follows:

Beautiful examples of wrought iron may be found on our public buildings and in wealthy homes all over the country. In the rapid spread of decorative ideas the door, as presenting a smooth, even surface, is one of the places on which decoration in wrought iron shows to splendid advantage. Provided the ornamentation is kept within reasonable limits and so as not to interfere with its usefulness, there seems to be no end to the manner in which wrought iron may be applied with advantage to the doorway. The ornamentation of a door should be entrusted to none but a competent workman. Otherwise the whole general appearance of the house may be spoiled.

TABLE TALK.

Gastronomic Suggestions Await a Few Common Vegetables.

Lima beans are now in full bearing, as is green corn, and both should be served frequently. The younger the beans the more delicate and the less cooking they require. Do not drown them in too much boiling water, which draws out their sweetness and fine flavor and is then thrown away; use barely enough to cover, adding salt and a bit of butter, and the result will be much better. If it is desired to serve them quite dry, put aside the water in which they have been cooked to add flavor to a vegetable soup. For a salad the beans should be rinsed and drained before marinating. Green corn should be carefully husked to insure the removal of all the silk; it is boiled in salted water from 15 to 30 minutes, according to its age. In preparing it for a soup or pudding the best way is to score each row down through the center with a sharp knife; then, with the back of the knife, press out all of the pulp. Careful scraping will remove every vestige, leaving the indigestible hulls adhering to the cob.

For a delicious corn pudding allow two dozen young ears; score and scrape out all the pulp and mix with it from one and one-half to two cupsful of milk, according to the juiciness of the corn. Stir in two well beaten eggs, two tablespoonfuls of flour, four tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one teaspoonful of sugar and salt and pepper to taste. Pour into a greased earthen dish and bake for two hours in a slow oven.

Brunswick stew is a famous dish in certain localities, and at this season it can be made in perfection. Clean and cut up a pair of fat squabblers or chickens, the former being preferred by epicures. Put on to cook with two quarts of water and one-half pound of fat bacon in one large piece. Skim as soon as the water reaches the boiling point and add one solid quart of peeled and cut ripe tomatoes. Stir frequently and do not allow it to stop boiling until finally taken from the fire. In half an hour add one pint of potatoes cut in pieces and one red pepper, which has been opened and the seeds removed. When the meat begins to fall from the bones—which will take fully two hours—add one pint of corn from the cob and three tablespoonfuls of butter, seasoning if needed, and cook for half an hour longer. This is a dish greatly relished by camping parties.

Green and red bell nose and sweet peppers are now to be had in all markets, and they will prove a satisfactory addition to many a dish. When used whole they are to be opened, the seeds removed, covered with boiling water and boiled for five minutes. After draining and cooling they are ready for use. They may be filled with a variety of mixtures, meats chopped and seasoned, boiled rice, seasoned and buttered crumbs, minced mushrooms—in fact, any sort of stuffing desired—and baked, enough stock being added to the pan to keep them from becoming too dry. Eggs may be dropped in them as in tomatoes. They may be shredded and sprinkled over green salads or finely chopped and added to stews, hashes and many chafing dish mixtures, says Table Talk in one of its tempting bills of fare, from which these hints are gleaned.

Warm Sleeping Socks For Winter.
The following instructions are for warm and comfortable sleeping socks, which are very easily knitted: Two skeins of four ply wool and two bone or wooden needles, No. 5. Cast on 68 stitches—this is for the sole of the sock—and increase one stitch by picking up and knitting the stitch immediately below the second stitch for four rows, thus making 72 stitches on the needle. Knit plain for 16 rows. You now begin to decrease for the instep and ankle in the following manner: Knit 24 stitches; knit the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth together; knit the thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth together; knit 34. In the next row knit 33, knit the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth together; knit the thirty-sixth and the thirty-seventh together; knit 33. Decrease thus in every row, twice exactly in the middle, until there are 32 stitches left. Knit 24 rows plain without any decrease. Work about an inch in a rib of two plain, two purl. Cast off very loosely and sew up. This number of stitches makes a full-sized sock.

Who Should Give Wedding Presents?
Who should and who should not send presents? It is expected that none but relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom and members of the two families shall send wedding presents, and the mere social acquaintance who violates this rule shows a want of knowledge, according to one authority on the polite conveniences. As a rule, jewels are presented only by relatives or the very closest friends, and the same thing may be said of small silver and furniture. During the last few years the custom of presenting objects of art in rare porcelains, ceramics and various metals, instead of pieces of table silver, has greatly increased.

Smallpox at Franklin, Ind.
Franklin, Ind., Oct. 10.—Smallpox has broken out in this city. The case is that of Solomon Jackson, a soldier in the late Spanish-American war, who served in Cuba for some time. Application was made for his admission to the Whitesides Hospital, but he was refused. He is now quarantined at his home in the northeast part of the city. Many cases may be developed in the next week or two.

To Advance Against the Khaila.
Calro, Oct. 10.—Reports from Omdurman say the mounted corps has already begun the march to the south and that the Sudanese infantry will follow in boats. The combined force of 6,000 will be mobilized at Khaila, on the Nile, 300 miles south of Omdurman, and thence will advance toward the beginning of November against the Khaila Abdulahi, who is encamped about ninety miles from Khaila.

Fire Sweeping Mill Valley.
San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 10.—Fire broke out late Monday in the brush of Mill valley, six miles north of this city, in Marin county, one of the most noted suburban residence places of San Francisco. The flames have destroyed many beautiful summer cottages belonging to wealthy families here, valued at $150,000, and are still raging. More than 1,000 men, who are fighting the fire, seem powerless to check its advance. Many persons have narrowly escaped death. Blythdale hotel seems doomed and the town of Mill Valley is threatened with destruction.

Samoa Said to Be Plotting.
Washington, Oct. 10.—Some apprehension is felt in official circles over the condition of affairs in Samoa. The state department has no complete advice from Consul-General Osborne regarding the situation, but it is known that the natives are again plotting. It is not believed, however, that there will be any fighting unless there has been a heavy importation of arms, which is expressly forbidden by the provisions of the Berlin treaty.

Franklin, Ind., Oct. 10.—Smallpox has broken out in this city. The case is that of Solomon Jackson, a soldier in the late Spanish-American war, who served in Cuba for some time. Application was made for his admission to the Whitesides Hospital, but he was refused. He is now quarantined at his home in the northeast part of the city. Many cases may be developed in the next week or two.

DEMANDS OF OUTLANDERS.

Determination Expressed to Crush the Boer Republic.

military efficiency. It is regarded as a demonstration to the world similar to that made by the flying squadron three years ago.

BOERS EXPEL THE OUTLANDERS.
Must Obtain Special Permission to Remain in the Transvaal.

Cape Town, Oct. 10.—An official notice was issued at Pretoria Saturday stating that all British subjects wishing to remain in the Transvaal must apply to the Landrost before Oct. 10, stating their business.

It is inferred from this notice that the Transvaal government intends shortly to expel all British subjects whose attitude toward the Boers is not considered satisfactory.

The Pretoria correspondent of the South Africa News quotes President Kruger, who was 79 years old Monday, as saying that it was extremely difficult to predict coming events. He was not troubled by the landing of British forces in Natal.

He was full of faith in the Almighty. He added that he could not announce anything further concerning the suggestion that the United States arbitrate in the dispute.

Victoria's Answer to the Pope.
Rome, Oct. 10.—The Italia Arena and other journals say the pope recently sent another letter to Queen Victoria, appealing to her on humanitarian grounds to use her influence in the direction of peace. The queen is credited with replying courteously to the effect that it was beyond her power to go against popular opinion in Great Britain or to interfere with the prerogative of the constitutional ministry.

Still Has Hopes of Peace.
London, Oct. 10.—In a speech delivered at Sheffield the duke of Devonshire, lord president of the council, said that the most hopeful sign of the situation was that the Transvaal did not seem to be inclined to precipitate an act of aggression. The longer hostilities were delayed the less probable would even a temporary Boer success become.

Ammunition for Boers Stopped.
Lourenco Marques, Oct. 10.—The steamer Guelph, reported to be bringing ammunition for the Boers, was overhauled at sea by the cruiser Philomel. The ammunition had been landed at Durban, the owners learning that it would be seized if brought here.

A CARBONIC ACID MOTOR.
Its Peculiar Advantages for Use in Automobiles.

The latest novelty in automobiles is one propelled by carbonic acid, the invention of C. D. P. Gibson of Jersey City. Describing the model now in operation, which includes the box, toward the rear, is an engine weighing only thirty-six pounds, and having cylinders whose diameter is one and seven-eighths, with a four-inch stroke. On either side of it, and reaching lengthwise in the box, are arranged flasks, or "cartridges," of liquid carbonic acid, coupled to each other and to a slender tube that feeds the engine. By means which Mr. Gibson does not yet describe, the fluid is vaporized and expanded in the cylinders. A working pressure of from 1,000 pounds upward is thus made available. The crank transmits its motion by sprocket and chain to the rear axle of the wagon without any intermediate shaft or gear. The sprocket on the crank shaft has nine teeth, and that on the wagon axle (a sixteen-inch sprocket) has twenty-nine. The drivers are thirty-eight-inch wheels. With the simple mechanism here described Mr. Gibson is able to run his wagon up the most astonishing grades. He climbs those appalling hills for which New Jersey is famous, and believes he can go where no gasoline motor can follow. He takes his wagon through deep, dry sand, too, where it would be almost impossible to take any other self-propelled carriage. Without the carbonic acid flasks and engine the carriage which he showed to a reporter the other day would weigh nearly 400 pounds. The flasks, contents and engine added about 400 pounds more. Some 500, or 600, pounds of human freight have been put into the wagon on occasions. A total load that is scarcely less than 1,400 pounds has thus been moved up hill and down with the utmost ease.—New York Tribune.

Frank About Ages.
Russian women are said to be remarkably frank about their ages. Several years ago one of them misrepresented her age in court and she was promptly sent to Siberia. It is said that the courts of France are absolutely unable to get correct statements of the number of years the fair daughters of that land have been upon earth.

What Horses Can Carry.
A horse can draw on the worst kind of earth road about four times as much as he can carry on his back. On a good macadamized road he can pull ten times as much, on a wooden road twenty-five times as much, and on a street railway fifty-eight times as much.

A Family Burial Place.
A clerical correspondent of the London Spectator says that the following inscription is to be found on a marble slab in the parish church of Tebury, Gloucestershire: "In a vault underneath lie several of the Saunderses, late of this parish. Particulars the last day will disclose. Amen."

FRESH STYLES FOR FALL.

Many New Things Which Every Woman Wants to Know.

Hints on the fashions of the coming winter which will assist in the early preparation of "something fit to wear" are given as follows by a writer in the New York Herald, to whom an opportunity has been revealed some of the splendors and luxuries of coming modes as brought over by a returned foreign buyer for a swell shop:

This year's styles fulfill a twofold mission. They make the stout woman look thinner, and the slender woman becomes a dream of loveliness and shapeliness when she dons a princess effect gown, a Russian pelisse and a breccole hat. Every skirt is tight fitting about the hips and very much flared around the bottom, sleeves are small, collars are high, some basques are shown, and fringe is the acme of novelty.

The favorite model in skirts will be a seamless circular shape, fitting like a glove over the hips and back and flaring at the bottom to the width of from 4½ to 5 yards. This flare is very perceptible as the skirt is held up, with one hand holding the bottom and one the belt. The front breadth, which used to be cut perfectly straight in order to insure a "good hanging skirt," is now perceptibly flared in the skirts, which are made on the gored pattern, which will also be very much worn.

Of course the seamless skirt is suitable only for very slim figures, as it outlines the shape too plainly to be worn by a stout woman. The perfect fit and cut of this skirt to make it hang properly will insure its exclusiveness. It could not be copied in cheap, ready made skirts and have any kind of style to it.

The shaped Spanish flounce is also very much in evidence and will be more popular in cloths than the seamless cut, as it is suited to almost any figure. The upper part will still fit closely, but the flounce, allowing of so

STREET DRESS WITH THE NEW FRINGE. Much more of a flare, makes on the whole a more graceful fullness around the bottom.

The skirts are just as long in front and train in the back as much as they have all summer. They may be disease breeders and microbe gatherers; but, for all that, lovely women go on her way serenely, and her gown trails behind her.

Most of the long coats have very sloping shoulders, with the sleeves cut in one piece with the body of the garment. All the collars, whether of fur, velvet, satin or silk, are soft and fall, falling in crushed jabots from the neck. In fact, this softness and flimsiness are new features of the coming season. Everything—the cloths, the silks, the satins—is just as flimsy as it can be. To rustle is to be out of the fashion. To be that is to be out of the world. There are no stiff taffetas either for linings or petticoats. The woman who rustles is either wearing an old gown or is not up with the styles. All the new gowns are lined with oriental satins, taffetas, mousseline and all the newest weaves of soft finished silks.

Brown tan and pastel shades are mentioned as being the most in favor this coming winter, though there are some reds and a few blues.

Fringe is the very latest in novelties and will be the rage this winter. It will be made to order in colors to match the gown and will be used profusely. One of the simplest yet smartest gowns shown to the writer was a costume of shepherd's plaid in a blue and white check. The lower skirt was devoid of any trimming, but flared considerably. The overskirt was a long, pointed affair, fitting like a glove over the hips and finished at the bottom by a 12 inch woolen fringe of the same colorings as the gown.

Fashion's Echoes.
Alpaca is to make morning gowns in all colors from light to dark. This hardy animal is never long out of favor, for it is an evergreen for wear, resisting dirt and emerging scathless from every ordeal.

Many of the new dresses have tabliers distinct from the front of the skirt or simulated by trimming. They are pointed or oval and reach almost to the hem of the dress.

Fur collars for the coming season will be built very tall, and muffs, large or small according to your fancy, will be worn on chains and cords.

No more belts of any kind for men, says Paris fashion. They are not now chic. When no waistcoat is worn, the jacket is buttoned up.

The colors in which this fabric comes are rich and lustrous blue and black.

Those which come from our tailor shops display in every line and detail the masterly treatment they have received in process of making, and the result is that these clothes equal the best class of merchant tailors' suits, while they can be sold at half those tailors' prices.
